

Mr. Morehouse's Classroom News

What We Are Up to

Happy Friday everyone. I hope everyone is having a great week. This weather has me thinking of winter. I hope the rain holds off for the trick-or-treaters. With this cold wet weather. Please remember to have your child prepared for recess with clothing that will keep them dry and warm.

As you start your weekend, here is a sneak peek at what has been going on in the classroom.

Math- We are right in the middle of multiplication right now. We have learned how to multiply using the area model, expanded notation, and algebraic model. We have two more methods of multiplying to learn. Students will be able to use whatever model for multiplying they would like.

Reading- We started a new unit in reading. This unit is about exploring characters in the story. We also have started using RAZ Kids for reading. It is a technology based reading program that students can use at home. Students enjoy reading from this program and it is specifically at their level.

Writing- We are publishing our narratives. We have learned the difference between revision and editing and now publishing our writing. Our next unit will be literary essays.

Science- We are in the middle of chapter 3. We have talked about ecosystems and how plants and animals get energy.

Fundraiser Info.

This Friday our products will be in. Please come pick them up at the end of the day. The products will be stored in room 20. I will be down there passing them out to the parents. Students who sold 5 items will also get a slushie and play games at the end of the day. Please get the money turned in by Friday, Nov. 3.

Science Projects

The leaf collection extra credit project due date has come and gone. If your child has not turned in the project they are still allowed to turn them in. The ecosystem diorama project has been assigned. Three pieces of paper went home with your child explaining the project. The due date is December 4. Project NEED to be turned in by this date.

Weekly Specials

This year our specials schedule will be the same each week. Each special will go for 50 minutes.

Monday- Art

Tuesday- P.E.

Thursday- STEM

Friday- Music

I hope everyone has a great weekend!

Go Trojans!
